Life Goals

£LOTS*

Cottrills Stone Lawless a sensible alternative!! In a profession that often equates a successful career with long hours CSL can offer a good career and the opportunity to handle good quality work from an impressive client base with the flexibility to allow people to balance life with work.

The firm is underpinned by a set of values and ambitions that have allowed them to create a friendly, open atmosphere, and a supportive environment. Crucially they have also attracted, and retain, a strong base of clients both local and national. They have forged strong professional and personal relationships with their clients and receive an array of interesting and high quality work. They are a firm that suit lawyers who are ambitious and keen to excel.

Residential Development Specialist (3-8 years qualified)

Residential Development law is their forte. In this specialism they stand toe to toe with the best in the region and act for clients, both local and national, that are the envy of many of their competitors. The lead partner is looking for a protégé someone with good development expertise and strong interpersonal skills. The clients have come to respect and rely on the legal team and the successful candidate will be able to benefit from this close relationship and naturally help nurture it. Prospects are very good.

Commercial Property Lawyer

The property department generates an array of interesting and challenging work and they are keen to make the strategic appointment of a further solicitor to this team. It will suit an individual who enjoys working closely with their clients building long term bridges with them and above all providing them with practical, effective and technically sound advice. Prospects can be bespoke.

* Whilst it is impossible to be precise with salary levels it is fair to say that, for the right person it will be the top end of the market rate.
